THE EDMUND CRYER JOURNALS ANNOUNCES MULTI-PLATFORM LAUNCH OF NEW CRIME-FICTION UNIVERSE ON 1 SEPTEMBER 2026

Rossendale, UK — 29 June 2026 — The Edmund Cryer Journals, a new multi-format crime-fiction brand created by Chris and Vickie Dunn, will officially launch on 1 September 2026 with the release of its flagship novel The White Rose and an accompanying original soundtrack. The project expands further with graphic comics already in production and a growing YouTube storytelling series.

Blending grounded British crime drama with documentary-style realism, The Edmund Cryer Journals introduces audiences to Detective Sergeant Edmund Cryer - a man shaped by a childhood tragedy and driven by a relentless pursuit of truth.

A New Crime-Fiction Universe Begins with The White Rose

Releasing worldwide on 1 September 2026, The White Rose is a character-driven procedural mystery that follows Edmund Cryer as he investigates a case that forces him to confront the long-buried shadows of his past. When a grieving widow uncovers hidden evidence, Cryer is drawn into a labyrinth of missing children, buried secrets, and a truth that refuses to stay forgotten.

The novel marks the first major entry in a long-form narrative universe that will continue across books, comics, music, and video.

Original Soundtrack Launches the Same Day

Alongside the novel, Chris & Vickie will release Music from The White Rose, an original soundtrack crafted to mirror the emotional and investigative beats of the story. The score blends ambient textures, brooding motifs, and documentary-inspired soundscapes, offering readers an immersive companion experience.

Graphic Comics Expand the World

A serialized graphic-comic line titled The Cryer Case Files is currently in production. The comics will adapt key investigations, flashbacks, and side stories from the Edmund Cryer universe, bringing a noir-inspired visual dimension to the world first established in the novel.

YouTube Series Builds the Community

Chris and Vickie also host the Days of Horror : Edmund Cryer Journals YouTube channel, where they retell Edmund's stories, explore character histories, and share behind-the-scenes development of the wider universe. The channel serves as an accessible entry point for new audiences and a deeper lore hub for dedicated fans.

A Multi-Format Vision

"Edmund Cryer's world was always meant to be bigger than a single book," says Chris. "We wanted to build a crime-fiction universe that feels lived-in, atmospheric, and emotionally real - something readers can explore across formats, whether they're reading, listening, or watching."
